and 84 (for rotation) can be advantageously used together on a proof sheet and order form, and are not mutually exclusive. Thus the features of Figs. 3A-3F can be used with the proof sheet and order form of Fig. 6A. Accordingly, Species I and Species II are not mutually exclusive, and therefore the election of species requirement is not proper.

For at least the foregoing reasons, Applicant respectfully traverses the election of species requirement and respectfully requests the Examiner to examine the claims of Species I and II together. Furthermore, Applicant respectfully traverses the restriction requirement and respectfully requests the Examiner to examine the claims of Groups I and II together.

If it is felt for any reason that direct communication with Applicants' attorney would serve to advance prosecution of this case to finality, the Examiner is invited to call the undersigned Robert C. Sismilich, Esq. at the below-listed telephone number.
